Correlation between the amount of microsomal protein used in the reaction and fluorometric absorbance was shown with a correlation coefficient ( $r^2$ ) of 0.9992. Each point was mean of  $n=2$ . (Procedure was demonstrated in the Materials and Methods).

Figure 33 Verification of aniline 4-hydroxylation. Correlation between the amount of microsomal protein used in the reaction and absorbance was shown with a correlation coefficient ( $r^2$ ) of 0.9985. Each point was mean of  $n=2$ . (Procedure was demonstrated in the Materials and Methods).

Figure 34 Verification of erythromycin N-demethylation. Correlation between the amount of microsomal protein used in the reaction and absorbance was shown with a correlation coefficient ( $r^2$ ) of 1. Each point was mean of  $n=2$ . (Procedure was demonstrated in the Materials and Methods).
